For Immediate Release
Contact Jeff Buell- 270-4554

(April 29, 2005- TROY)- Planning for the annual Earth Day cleanup in the City of Troy is complete, and the celebration will take place TOMORROW throughout the city. The Earth Day Festival, a one-day celebration in Riverfront Park, sponsored by Rensselaer County, will take place the on Sunday.

The list of projects is complete, though residents can still start their own project, as long as the City is notified that there will need to be a trash pickup at the site. The number for the Department of Public Works is 270-4579.

The Alamo, located across from the Rensselaer County Jail in South Troy, will also be open on Earth Day from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for trash disposal. No renovation material or toxic waste is allowed. There will also be a $2 charge for tires.

Members of the media are encouraged to cover the event on Saturday. A list of projects is included on the second page for photographers and cameras. Any questions on Saturday can be directed to Jeff Buell at 470-6837.
